Farewell Jamie

Jamie Smith, our Program Director will be leaving Pegasus at the beginning of November due to her husband's job relocation. Jamie has been at Pegasus since 2009 when she initially joined as barn staff. In the past six years she has quickly risen through the ranks and enabled Pegasus to be the excellent program it is today. Words cannot begin to express the thanks we have to Jamie. She is not one to enjoy people making a fuss over her leaving. However, write her a note and tell her how you feel. We know she would appreciate it. Filling her shoes will be Teresa Doherty, our current Asst. Program Director. Instructor & Volunteer Coordinator, Haley Flagg will move into Teresa's former position.

Buy A Bale is Back

Beginning October 13th we will be kicking off our annual Buy A Bale campaign with a competitive twist. Due to last year's success, we will be offering prizes to the person who "sells" the most bales in two separate categories: riders and volunteers. Every willing rider and volunteer will be given an envelope and materials that will enable them to solicit contributions for the Buy A Bale campaign. The campaign runs through November 30th. It's an easy way for people to make a small donation that can have an impact.

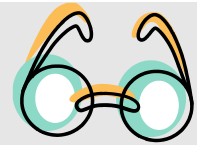

Pegasus Riders at the Thorncroft Horse Show

It was a beautiful fall day on Sunday, October 11th when six riders from Pegasus were joined by Marvel and George at the Fall Horse Show at Thorncroft Equestrian Center in Malvern, PA. Veteran rider Kevin Hesser competing for the first time on George in the dressage class was thrilled to bring home a first place ribbon. All other riders competed in equitation events. Second place ribbons were won by Melissa Endriss, Charlotte Fieldcamp and Aly Gibbins. Nicky Frumento earned a third place ribbon and Alia Tyson who placed 6th in her class had the right attitude. She said "I like the horse show because it's fun." Thank you Alia for reminding us all that we need to remember to enjoy whatever we do.
